

Interested in creating videos & using social media to bring about social change?

The ability to create compelling digital media can get your message across and sway opinion, but when used for social causes, it can create a huge following and drive significant change in the world.

The Platform Project has secured funding from the Wiltshire Community Foundation to help young people learn how to create social media videos to help highlight the homelessness issue in Swindon. During the 1 week project participants will learn how to:

- Plan and shoot professional standard video footage
- Conduct interviews with professionals working with homeless
- Create a compelling social media campaign
- Identify & organise a social action project to help with homelessness

Mon 12th - Fri 16th Feb '18

Places are FREE but limited - to apply please email info@platformproject.co.uk for an interview
